

RESTORATIVE JUSTICE TOOLKITS FOR PRISONS

Tim Newell and Kimmett Edgar

List of toolkits

This selection of tools can be used to develop restorative justice practices in a prison, and to check the quality of the work being undertaken. The purpose is to provide materials that can be dipped into when required. The toolkit is organised in the following structure:

- 1) Principles, set out in different formats
- 2) Organisational self-assessment of the quality of restorative work
- 3) Questions to help map the cultural web at a prison
- 4) Report on the Restorative Justice in Prisons Project (by Tim)
- 5) Guidance on working with crime victims
- 6) A protocol for working with victims of crime
- 7) Pamphlet about prisons for victims of crime
- 8) Questions for assessing the prison's work with victims (victims, victim contact officers, staff, prisoners)
- 9) Things you can do to resolve conflicts
- 10) Guide to restorative methods of responding to incidents
- 11) Checkpoints for violence prevention
- 12) Restorative practices in prisons list
- 13) Pennsylvania Prison Society Restorative Justice Program
